State Buried Deep in Snow

Conditions Generally Far Worse Than in Kingston—Railroads and Highways Blocked and All Traffic Tied Up.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, N. Y., Jan. 30.—New York state, particularly the eastern, central and northern sections today was shrouded itself out of one of the worst snow storms since the famous blizzard of 1889.

Albany and the capitol district probably were hit the hardest of any part of the state. Blanketed under a foot of snow and with a wind blowing at times 50 and 60 miles an hour, all traffic, including trolley, rail and automobile, was completely demoralized.

The principal streets of the city were blocked by huge drifts in some places eight and ten feet deep.

Business got away to a late start today because about 90 per cent of persons employed in downtown sections were forced to walk to work in the face of the driving, biting wind and snow.

All trains on the New York Central and Delaware and Hudson Railroads were hours late. Rail officials said it was the worst storm they had experienced in years.

The snow started falling late yesterday and continued throughout the night. In the evening a wind of almost hurricane proportions struck this section and within a few hours traffic was demoralized.

Wire communication was hard hit. The telephone companies reported scores of wires down to the north and west of the city. Meager reports received here early today said that many towns throughout this part of the state were completely cut off from communication with the outside world.

Interurban trolley service between Albany, Schenectady, Troy, Watervliet and Cohoes was abandoned shortly after midnight. Traction officials said scores of cars were stalled in the huge drifts. The snow plows and sweepers used by the traction company were unable to make any headway against the drifts.

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 30.—Heavy falls of snow in the Rochester, Syracuse and Attica sections caused delay in the arrival of west bound trains this morning. Central and Lackawanna trains were delayed from one to three hours. Erie trains came in on time. About four inches of snow fell here last night. Otherwise the weather was mild and normal.

Glens Falls, N. Y., Jan. 30.—A blanket of snow fully two feet thick fell over the Adirondacks last night and caused a complete tie-up of trolley and bus lines. Trains on the Albany-Montreal division of the Delaware and Hudson were running about an hour late this morning. In the northern portion the snow is blowing and in many instances has filled the roads with drifts which are impassable.

Olean, N. Y., Jan. 30.—Two feet of snow fell within a few hours early last night. The first blizzard of the season was rapid, averaging seven inches an hour. Four inches fell the third hour and a light fall continued. A wind this morning has piled the snow into six foot drifts in many places.

Binghamton, N. Y., Jan. 30.—This city was practically snowbound today. More than 20 inches of snow, according to United States weather bureau measurements, lay over the city. Eighteen inches had fallen in the last 24 hours and the skies were still shedding a light fall. Traffic was moving, but badly disrupted. Country roads were blocked by drifts in many directions and the weather bureau promise of strong west winds indicated that this condition would be aggravated. One minor accident was reported between Endicott and Malone, a country village, when a farmer drove a team over a bank because the highway was obliterated by snow. Other farmers rescued the man and his wife and team after two hours work.

Electric cars between here and Endicott were snowbound over night and scores of automobiles were stalled by the snow along the roads radiating from here. City streets were dotted with them. Two minor accidents were reported in the city.

City and county officials and the traction company endeavored to keep the principal thoroughfares open, but it was a tremendous task. Early morning trains to Syracuse and Utica were cancelled by the Lackawanna lines and the Erie and Delaware and Hudson reported difficulties.

New York, Jan. 30.—New York skidded and slipped to work today. Following an inch and a half snow fall late yesterday, heavy rain last night turned streets and sidewalks into treacherous paths of slush and ice.

Although 14,000 men were reported at work clearing the streets, the continued fall and freezing weather has made the work difficult.

Schenectady, N. Y., Jan. 30.—Trolley service badly crippled and bus lines tied up by one of the worst snow storms in the last ten years. Twelve inches of snow fell in the last 12 hours. Milk deliveries were greatly curtailed by huge drifts of snow which made some of the streets almost impassable.

Troy, N. Y., Jan. 30.—This city today was recovering from one of the worst snow storms of recent years. Trolley service was almost completely demoralized and bus service was at a standstill. Between

Snow Brought Warmer Weather

Late Thursday afternoon another snow storm broke over the city and by this morning several inches of snow had fallen. The storm was accompanied by a high wind and warmer weather. During the early hours of the evening the snow turned to rain which was followed by sleet and then as the temperature began dropping was succeeded by snow.

The high wind caused the snow that fell to drift to a considerable depth. Householders this morning found that the snow was heavy when they started to shovel the walks. In some places the snow lay on the walks to a depth of but a few inches, but where the wind had carried it it was drifted to a depth of several feet.

Superintendent W. Scott Van Keuren, of the board of public works, had his force of men out early working to clear the streets for traffic. The fact that the last snow storm had been practically removed from the streets made the work much lighter. Owing to the drifts it was possible to put the snow loader at work this morning and it was used on lower Broadway and in the downtown business section.

The trolley road got busy during the night with its snow plows and had the trolley tracks open so that the trolley service was about normal today.

THE THEATERS
CURRENT OFFERINGS

A screamingly funny farce comedy, "Getting Gertie's Garter," is the Chicago Stock Company's offering in the Opera House tonight. Originally produced by A. H. Woods in the Eltinge Theater in New York, it enjoyed a long and prosperous run. Saturday afternoon at 2:30 and 8:20 promptly, laughs and thrills are united successfully in Robert Sherman's famous mystery farce "Spooks." Its action has to do with a series of midnight events that happen to a group of persons in a spooky lonely manor house.

A splendid picture, and one that will appeal strongly to all types of theater-goers, is showing at Keeney's again tonight and Saturday. It is "The Woman on the Jury," a first National picture directed by Harry O. Hoyt from the stage play by Bernard K. Burns, which ran for more than a year on Broadway. In addition to one of the most virile stories that have ever found their way to the screen, "The Woman on the Jury" is especially noteworthy for the remarkable cast which interprets the tale.

At the Auditorium tonight, William Fox super special "The Man Who Came Back," featuring George O'Brien and Dorothy Mackall. A notable book, a great stage success and a screen triumph.

Vanderbilt of exceptional merit is being offered at the Orpheum for the last half of this week, featuring Paul and Argo, late stars of "Plain Jane Company," which played on Broadway for one successful year. The picture is "Buck" Jones in "Winner Takes All." A picture filled with love, action and drama.

No More Hanging.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Jan. 30.—President Coolidge today signed a bill abolishing the ancient punishment of hanging in the District of Columbia. Hereafter death sentences will be imposed by electrocution.

Police Chief a Suicide.
Henry Osterhoudt, chief of police of Monroe, Orange county, for nearly twenty years, committed suicide at his home, Thursday morning, by shooting himself in his head. Ill health is said to be the cause.

Changes at Zion Church.
The committee arranging for the supper this evening have decided to cancel the date to February 6th. The supper will therefore not be held this evening, but on the 6th day of February.

Constitution Committee Meeting.
The Constitution Revision committee of the Spring Street Lutheran Church will meet this evening at 8 o'clock at the parsonage.

12 and 14 inches of snow fell during the night and a howling wind piled in great drifts in the city streets.

An aged man was reported frozen to death in a deserted shack at Poca-tentuck, seven miles from here.

Asbury, N. Y., Jan. 30.—Ruins of four Auburn factories broke last night and today make the weight of snow which piled several feet deep on top of them. They were on the following factories:

The crane house of the International Harvester Company.
The Excelsior Forging Company.
Henry and Allen Manufacturing Company.

The Gushers apron factory.
A meeting of the state prison parole board scheduled for today at Auburn prison was postponed when George W. Benham of Auburn and Dr. E. L. Larkin of Plattsburgh were marooned at Sing Sing prison by the storm.

Fulton, N. Y., Jan. 30.—This city was buried today under an avalanche of snow that laid a five foot blanket over eastern Oswego county yesterday and last night.

Drifts of five feet deep were in city streets five to six feet in rural sections and along the interurban and main railway lines and of two feet in sections exposed to the full force of the wind were reported.

Syracuse Tied Up by the Storm

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Syracuse, N. Y., Jan. 30.—Eighteen hours of continuous snow yesterday and today buried Syracuse under its heaviest snowfall in twenty-six years. Thousands walked to work through three foot drifts this morning. Train, trolley and taxi service of all kinds has been forced to suspend.

More than sixty trolleys were stalled in various sections of the city. Early estimates placed the number of abandoned automobiles at 1,500.

Three hundred and fifty persons narrowly escaped death when the roof of the Elmwood Theatre in South avenue caved in two minutes after the close of the last performance.

At 8 o'clock this morning, the storm continued unabated and augmented by a fifteen mile wind.

Dog Teams Race To Save Lives

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Anchorage, Alaska, Jan. 30.—With strained muscles and harness taut the strongest, fleetest dogs in Alaska today sped northward in an effort to bring life giving anti toxin into diphtheria stricken Nome.

Over snow and ice-covered trails in the bitter cold of the Arctic raced Dan Green, the third champion dog racer of the north, relaying serum to the disease ravaged city.

Green left Hot Springs yesterday afternoon and last night was reported not far from Tanana.

In the light sled which Green's dogs are pulling rested a twenty pound package of 1,000,000 anti toxin which will save hundreds of lives in Nome providing the race against disease is won.

The package was heavily wrapped in blankets to prevent freezing and breaking of the containers.

Green, who is one of the best known of Alaska's weather hardened men famous for their fast traveling dog teams, expected to reach Ruby tonight, where Leonard Seppala, another champion of the Yukon dog derby, is speeding southward from Nome.

Seppala, his dog team led by the famous derby winners, "Scotty" and "Togo," will receive the serum from Green at Ruby and turning tail make the final dash of 200 miles back to Nome, travelling across the snow coated ice of Norton Bay.

Wireless reported here today said the madly racing mushers would not make a detour around Norton Bay on land but would speed across the ice from Bonanza to Eklum, a distance of 100 miles.

With frozen hands and face and dogs so tired they could hardly lift their ice coated legs, James Kalland, the second relay driver, arrived at Hot Springs. A kettle of hot water was required to free Kalland from the handles of his sleds and the fur around his face was frozen solid in a cake of ice.

Kalland, however, was not seriously hurt, although his hands were badly frozen.

He raced northward for a distance of 20 miles in a face-biting wind with the temperature 40 degrees below zero. Kalland made only one stop, halting to feed his dogs.

FINANCE CORPORATION'S FINANCES TO BE EXAMINED

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, N. Y., Jan. 30.—Business of the Edwards Personal Finance Corporation of Buffalo, was halted today by an injunction obtained under the Martin Act by Attorney General Ottinger. The concern, which is a money lending agency, became entangled in the Martin law dragnet by fictitiously conditioning loans upon the purchase of its stock, the attorney general claims.

The injunction was granted by Supreme Court Justice Staley of Albany. Under its terms the officers of the company, Edward E. Delger, president, Marion H. Deigler, vice president and Herman J. Helmer, secretary-treasurer, are required to appear in supreme court at Buffalo February 4 and submit to an examination concerning the business methods of the corporation.

FULTON GUILTY OF VIOLATING BOXING LAW

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 30.—Fred Fulton, former aspirant as world's champion heavyweight boxer, today entered a plea of guilty to a charge of conspiracy to violate the California boxing law.

The trials of Jack Reilly, Fulton's manager, Tony Feneat, "Mexican champion" and Feneat's manager, Fred Winner, were then started.

New York's Lead In Agriculture

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, N. Y., Jan. 30.—New York state's leadership in agriculture was stressed in the report of the 1924 crop production just issued by the state department of farms and markets in cooperation with the United States department of agriculture.

According to the report New York ranks first among all states in the production of hay, potatoes, apples, cabbage, onions, green beans for canning and green peas for market.

It ranks second in the production of grapes, pears, maple syrup, cauliflower and lettuce.

It also shares honors with Wisconsin as the most important producer of dairy products including fluid and condensed milk, butter and cheese.

In commenting on the figures given last year, Commissioner Berne A. Pyke, of the department of farms and markets, said: "Many persons do not realize the magnitude and importance of New York's agriculture. Take the case of fruits and vegetables for example. If the 72,707 cars actually loaded and shipped by railroad from New York points last season were all put together it would make a train approximately 550 miles long. Such a train would extend from the Grand Central terminal in New York city along the line of the New York Central and Albany, across the state from Albany to Buffalo and beyond Buffalo westward to Erie, Penna. To make this even more vivid: picture a man in an automobile waiting at a crossing for such a train, moving 20 miles an hour, to pass. If he arrived at the crossing at 6 o'clock in the morning he would have to wait all day and all night, and until 5 o'clock the next morning to see the rear of the train pass by."

"It should be noted that these 72,707 cars of fruit and vegetables shipped by rail last season constitute only a small proportion of the total state production of these commodities. The rest are hauled by truck and in wagons to our city markets or to canning factories, grape juice plants, kraut factories, etc., while considerable quantities are consumed on the farms."

"In the case of dairy products, if all the milk produced annually in New York state were shipped in standard 40 quart cans in ordinary milk cars, it would make a train 1,574 miles long—extending over the New York Central lines from New York city to Chicago and 200 miles further west. Our man at the crossing would have to wait three whole days and six hours more for such a train to pass."

"If all the hay produced in the state in 1924 were loaded into cars each containing 12 tons, it would make a train 4,215 miles long, and the man at the crossing would have to wait over a week for it to pass by."

"If these trains of fruits and vegetables, dairy products and hay were all consolidated into one train it would be over 4,333 miles long, or of sufficient length to extend from New York to Portland, Oregon, from there to Los Angeles, Cal., and back along the Southern Pacific route to New Orleans."

"In addition, all the fruits and vegetables consumed in local markets and all the miscellaneous farm products not already included were to be computed on a carload basis and added to our train it would undoubtedly bridge the remaining distance from New Orleans back to New York city. Our unfortunate man waiting at the crossing would have to wait several months' vacation to watch such a train pass by."

"Such computations," continued the commissioner, "while more especially important, serve to bring out in graphic fashion the magnitude of the agricultural resources of New York state and indicate that the great industrial development in the state has not yet eclipsed its agricultural importance."

No Further League Meeting.

There will be no Junior League meeting this evening, at the Spring Street Lutheran Church.

Gas Drives Crew Off Submarine

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Portsmouth, N. H., Jan. 30.—All of the 45 officers and men from the stranded United States submarine S-48 were rescued today by coast guard men from the Wood Island life saving station.

Twenty-five members of the crew were taken from the undersized boat after being imprisoned aboard all night in a howling northeast gale. Later the skeleton crew of 20 men was removed.

The last 20 men were taken off by the coast guardsmen after the big submersible began to fill with chlorine gas, seeping out of the storage batteries as water from a hole in the submarine's bow penetrated the interior of the craft.

Two Men Killed by Derailed Engine

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Jan. 30.—Two track workers on the Delaware and Hudson railroad were instantly killed here early today when the engine on the Albany-Montreal sleeper jumped the tracks and pinned them against the side of a building.

The death of the two men, Peter Paine and John Jagunio, was due indirectly to the snow storm, one of the worst this section has experienced in years.

They were cleaning snow from a switch and had just stepped back as the train came thundering through the blinding storm. With a crash the engine jumped the switch and crushed both men to death.

Deraiment of the engine delayed traffic on the Montreal division for six hours.

Passengers on the sleeper were shaken up by the deraiment of the engine but none were injured.

The accident occurred two blocks north of the Saratoga Springs depot.

STOLEN DOCUMENTS SOLD TO COLLECTOR

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Paris, Jan. 30.—Important secret documents signed by the prime ministers of the allied nations and stolen from the reparations commission by Pierrie Michant, under secretary of the commission, were delivered to a "Mr. Myers" of Philadelphia, wealthy book lover and autograph collector, police announced today.

Michant has confessed the thefts, police said. The secret documents, stenographic reports of the conference at Boulogne, Cannes and Spa, were covered by Myers for their signatures, but brought the young secretary scarcely more than $500, according to his confession.

FOUR STATE BUREAUS SEEKING NEW QUARTERS.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, N. Y., Jan. 30.—Officials of four state bureaus today were searching for new quarters because of the fire which yesterday drove them out of the old Reynolds building, 36 North Pearl street.

The fire caused damage estimated at $750,000. Valuable papers in the office of the supreme court reporter were destroyed. Records of the state troopers were lost. The troopers have set up temporary headquarters in a local bank building.

The records of the state employment office and the liquidation bureau of the state insurance department went up in smoke.

SCHOONER AGROUND ON SANDY HOOK BAR

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Seabright, N. J., Jan. 30.—Mountainous seas today lashed the disabled four masted schooner Com-mack, aground on a sand bar at the eastern end of Sandy Hook.

All through the night the ship was driven further upon the bar. A shift in the wind early today, however, restored hopes of coast guards that Captain Joseph Barber and four members of the crew on board the schooner may be saved.

The captain and his men refused to leave the vessel although coast guards dropped a breeches buoy line over its decks and offered to take them off.

Storm Helped Hlad.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Rinconchito, N. Y., Jan. 30.—Radio fans of the city reported today that reception was again normal after several days and nights of "buzzing."

Radio wires and lines of the power and traction company had sought in vain for the cause. Last night the power feed wires were found entangled in trees in Rinconchito. The wires were being shipped against an E. E. T. and M. B. Schoemaker and were being shipped against an E. E. T. and M. B. Schoemaker. The wires were being shipped against an E. E. T. and M. B. By Telegram to The Freeman.
Paris, Jan. 30.—Diplomatic circles heard today that the American government was sending a note to France on the subject of the Franco-American debt. The French government had declined to pay a note of $100,000,000 and the American government had refused to pay a note of $100,000,000.

Means and Felder Are Found Guilty

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Jan. 30.—Gaston B. Means, detective, and Thomas B. Felder, his lawyer, were found guilty of conspiracy to bribe government officials in a sealed verdict returned today in the United States district court. The jury recommended extreme clemency for Felder.

The offense carries a maximum punishment of two years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

The jury's verdict was reached at 8:50 p. m. yesterday, but sealed and kept until court opened this forenoon. The jury had been out five hours and 15 minutes.

Means received the verdict with his familiar dimpled smile.

Felder turned pale, licked his dry lips and gulped, while he sat immovably in his chair.

Means seemed to take the jury's finding as a joke. He had bet a newspaper reporter five cents at even money that he would be convicted.

"Well," he said with a grin, "I guess I win five cents."

The government in bringing the conspiracy charge, complained that Felder, Means and the latter's confidential man, Elmer Jarnecke, who pleaded guilty and testified against them, conspired to bribe former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, once Felder's law partner, United States District Attorney Hayward's assistant, John Holley Clark, and William J. Burns, head of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice under Daugherty.

The defendants, it was charged, obtained $65,000 from certain defendants in the mail fraud case growing out of the Crager Company's sale of stock in the Glass Casket Company.

Means, Felder and Jarnecke, the government alleged, told these defendants that they could obtain dismissal of the indictments against them.

Felder and Means's defense was that Jarnecke, Isaac Padoff of Chicago and the latter's financial backer, Samuel Schmidt, conspired to swindle the casket defendants, using Means's name for that purpose without the detective's knowledge.

Judge Lindley sentenced Means to serve two years in the Atlanta penitentiary and to pay a fine of $10,000. It was the maximum penalty.

Felder was fined $10,000 but given no prison sentence.

Eclipse Reel At Keeney's

As a special attraction at Keeney's Theater today and tomorrow the management has secured a reel of film showing the eclipse of the sun by the moon which took place last Saturday. This wonderful phenomenon, the wonder of the century, is shown from beginning to end in a most realistic manner. The big picture at Keeney's is "The Woman on the Jury," a special comedy film "Lonesome."

BREVITIES BOYS TO BE SENTENCED TOMORROW

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Jan. 30.—Stephen G. Clow, publisher of "Broadway Brevities," and Andrew S. Brown and Nat Kunnes, two of his advertising solicitors, who were found guilty by a jury in a federal court of using the mails to defraud, will be sentenced by Judge Mack tomorrow morning.

Charles S. Greene, another advertising solicitor of the magazine, tried on the same charge, was acquitted.

The maximum sentence is five years in prison on each count and $1,000 fine. Clow and Brown were found guilty on 3 counts and Kunnes on 5 counts.

MRS. FRANK DALEY HAS HER HUSBAND ARRESTED THURSDAY

Frank Daley of No. 24 Post street, was arrested Thursday afternoon by Officer Leonard on a warrant obtained by Mrs. Daley, charging her husband with non-support.

This morning in police court before Judge Harry E. Schlicht the hearing was adjourned for one week.

Fatal Fire in Bronx.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Jan. 30.—A six year old boy was burned to death and three persons were rescued by police and firemen in a Bronx fire today. The boy was Edmund Grunberg, son of Dr. B. Grunberg, who has three other children. The fire broke out in a tenement at 100th street and 10th avenue.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 30.—The snow storm which hit the state today, did not prevent the legislature from working.

Reilly Stole Wrong Kind of Ale

Added to His Disappointment, He Is Sent to the Elmira Reformatory for an Indefinite Period.

Sentence was imposed this morning in the case of The People vs. William Reilly, indicted by the grand jury on a charge of burglary, in having entered the premises of Jacob Bernstein at Bloomington from which he took Liberty bonds, papers and other articles including jewelry and bottles which he thought contained ale but which in reality contained ginger ale.

Reilly comes from the town of Rosendale and has a reputation about his section which is none too good. He gave his name as Joseph William K. Reilly and District Attorney Traver asked that an order be entered amending the indictment which was brought under the name of William Reilly.

Reilly was sentenced by Judge Fowler to the New York State Reformatory at Elmira until discharged by law. After sentence had been imposed and defendant was leaving the court room he for the first seemed to realize the seriousness of the matter and broke out in loud sobs.

Court went into recess until Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock without a jury.

A Wild Night In Catskills

The snow and wind storm that broke over Kingston and vicinity Thursday night raged in the Catskill Mountains, where the snow drifted to a height of several feet. At the office of the Ulster & Delaware Railroad here it was stated that the snow fall in the mountains was about the same as in Kingston.

The main line of the railroad from Kingston to Oneonta was kept open without much difficulty. The branch line running from Kaaterskill to Hunter was tied up by the drifts, but men were working today clearing the track.

Japan Under Heavy Snowfall

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Tokyo, Jan. 30.—All of Japan was covered by a record snowfall, one of the heaviest in many years.

All communication was temporarily blocked by the storm. Telegraph and telephone lines were put out of commission and train service into Tokyo was blocked.

Service by tram cars and busses in the city was at a standstill due to the deep snow.

Great Lakes To Be Protected

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Jan. 30.—A permanent organization of state officials interested in the development of the Great Lakes was formed here today.

The purpose of the organization is to secure concerted action by all states bordering on the lakes against legislation permitting diversion of water from the lakes—to unify the opposition to Chicago's obtaining enormous amounts from lakes for municipal purposes.

All Lakes States except Illinois were represented. Members of the conference announced that their first task would be to fight the McCormick bill authorizing a nine foot channel from the lakes to the gulf. They opposed this measure on the ground that too much water would be diverted from Lake Michigan, thus lowering the lakes level.

Alexander Macdonald, chairman of the New York Waterpower Commission, presided.

Among the officials attending the meeting were:

Albert Ottinger, attorney general of New York; C. S. Perry, deputy attorney general and Roy Fink, New York state engineer.

HUNT CIRCUS PLAYED AT PHILADELPHIA

Copies of the program of the Charles T. Hunt Circus Company which played a week's engagement, January 19 to 24, at the 1024 Cavalry Armory, Philadelphia, Pa., for the benefit of the Miami Cordelia Hospital, have been received in this city.

The proprietors of the circus are Charles T. Hunt, Sr. and Andrew F. Mulhare, formerly of Kingston. The official program contained over 25 acts of a high order, among them a number of the big feature acts of the Ringling Brothers and other large circuses. Philadelphia newspapers praised the indoor circus very highly and the performances were attended during the week by many thousands of people.

Fort William, Ont.—Another epic drama of the Northwest was unfolded as Steve Denoski, a mail carrier, dragged himself into the Twin Falls lumber camp, his legs frozen and nearly dead from exposure and hunger for four days of wandering in a dense forest.

A doctor amputated both legs below the knee, and later shortened one leg at the hip.

May Survive Shock.

Only the man's excellent physique and his astounding fortitude brought him out of the forest alive. He has a slim chance to survive, doctors say.

Denoski, a mail carrier for the New Ontario Construction company, became lost 40 miles east of the Soo lookout.

Become Numb With Cold.

Off the beaten trail he decided to take a short cut instead of retracing his steps as a more experienced woodsman would have done. Owing to the darkness he lost his way and wandered all night, apparently in circles.

All the next day he wandered about, hoping to locate a trail or cabin. Late in the afternoon he lay on a sunny hillside exhausted, and slept a little. Weakened from lack of food he roused himself and kept going.

Tortured by Hunger.

Without means of making a fire he became numb with cold. Occasionally he saw a rabbit which he had no means of killing or capturing. Hunger tortured, he kept on in what seemed to him an interminable tramp.

Striking off in a direction he thought was northward, he hoped to find the Canadian National railway tracks. On and on he went. Too exhausted to walk, he crawled. His legs and feet were frozen then, but with indomitable courage he pulled himself along the snow-covered ground with his hands. Finally he came upon an old logging road and managed to scramble into the Twin Falls Lumber company camp.

Airedale Blocks Escape
of $3,500,000 Robbers

Kansas City, Kans.—An airedale pup prevented the escape from the Wyandotte county jail here of Fred E. Pfefferberger and Keith Collins, principals in the $3,500,000 Council Bluffs (Iowa) mail robbery in 1920.

When the dog caused Sheriff Maher to start an investigation he found the prisoners had burrowed almost through the 14-inch brick wall which separated their second-floor cell from the jail yard. A slight push would have eliminated the outer bricks and liberated the men, the sheriff said.

In the cell, Maher found an iron bar and several sharp pieces of iron, which had been used to penetrate the wall. Two gas pipes, wrapped with a padding of silk thread, also were found. Maher said he investigated when the dog kept barking constantly at the wall outside the cell.

New Fish Story

Arnolds Park, Iowa.—Harry Tennant and Guy Rickman, both of this place, caught an eight-pound goldfish while netting "soft" fish from Minnewashta lake, recently. This fish was of the carp variety and was of a bright orange hue, with a few small black spots near the head—an exaggerated replica of the little goldfish many people keep as ornaments in small glass bowls. The last time such a fish was found in these lakes, according to Mr. Rickman, was 15 years or more ago.

Ware Uncle Sam

Oklahoma City, Okla.—Mail boxes are expensive playthings, John Begley, who knocked over one of them, found out when he came to the reckoning in Federal court here. He was fined $500 by Judge R. L. Williams, and told that rough stuff didn't go with mail boxes.

"As boys, all of us did worse things," said Judge Williams, "but we never ran up against Uncle Sam."

Whips Common

Chicago.—Hugo Terman, proprietor of a restaurant at 736 North Clark street, defeated a gunman in a wrestling match, took the pistol away and fired it at the robber as he fled.

HIGH FALLS

High Falls, Jan. 29.—The social which was held on Thursday night, January 22 in the basement of the church by the D. Y. B. Class of the Reformed Church Sunday school was a decided success. A large crowd was present and were entertained with games, music and recitations and a fine lunch was served by the young ladies, which everyone enjoyed. The proceeds were over twenty dollars and a part was given for the benefit of the church.

The many friends of Miss Marian Krom gave her a surprise on Friday night in honor of her 16th birthday at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Wynkoop. A very pleasant and enjoyable time was spent by all present. Later in the evening a bountiful supper was served, then all departed wishing Marian many happy birthdays.

Miss Sarah Feinberg attended the birthday party of Miss Sylvia Margolis on Sunday evening, January 25. Preston Church is serving as juryman in Kingston this week.

PINE HILL.

Pine Hill, Jan. 29.—The thermometer registered 13 degrees below zero in this village on Wednesday morning.

The Young People's Study Class will hold a spaghetti supper in the M. Church Hall on Friday evening, January 30.

The meeting of the taxpayers and citizens of the village, held at the village hall on Tuesday evening, for the purpose of taking into consideration the advisability of purchasing a fire engine, was largely attended. Only a few present objected to the proposition, and a committee was appointed to investigate and get a demonstration of different engines in use and report at an early date. There is no question of the necessity for additional fire fighting apparatus in this village, as the gravity system now in use is certainly inadequate for protection, and many places within the corporate limits of the village cannot be protected by this system. With the two creeks, Wurzburger pond and the Pine Hill lake within the corporate limits of the village, a sufficient supply of water could be had at any season of the year. It was estimated that this equipment would cost $10,000, and it was proposed to issue bonds for that amount, payable $500 annually. Had Pine Hill been supplied with one of these engines last November at the time of the big fire here, the losses sustained by those who suffered would have paid for two or three of these engines, beside from what insurance they collected. It is understood that unless additional facilities for protection are supplied for the village, the New York Fire Insurance Rating Organization will advance the rate for insurance at Pine Hill, in which event the extra insurance rate would exceed the additional amount of tax to be paid by each property owner, annually, while paying the bonds.

Charles H. Griffin, the collector, will be at Shapiro's store in this village, for the purpose of receiving taxes at one per cent. After February 11th five per cent will be charged.

Only one round-trip from Pine Hill to Kingston is now made by McRieve's bus daily, which leaves Pine Hill at 7:45 a. m. and returns at 6:00 p. m.

Mrs. George Smith, who underwent a serious operation at the Benedictine Hospital, at Kingston, about two weeks ago, is rapidly recovering, and it is expected that she will be able to return to her home in Pine Hill the early part of next week.

Work is progressing rapidly on the new school building. It will be quite an ornament to our village when completed.

WEST HURLEY.

West Hurley, Jan. 29.—The Rev. K. M. Reynolds was entertained for dinner on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Rowe.

Miss Florence Banks, who has been spending some time in Central Valley has returned to her home here. Miss Beulah Cole is spending a few weeks in Fleischmanns.

The Misses Foster of Morgan Hill spent Sunday of last week with Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Herrick and daughter Ruth.

The funeral of Michael Joyce, Sr. was held from the home of his son, Michael Joyce, Jr. Tuesday of last week, and was very largely attended by his relatives and friends.

Mrs. George Terwilliger of Zena, spent a few days this week with her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Ostrander.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Cole entertained Friday of last week in honor of Miss Libbie Van Tassel of Kingston. Mr. and Mrs. Doug Every and son Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hammond and family and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hart and son Chasmon. A very enjoyable time was had by those present.

Theodore Kerr spent the week end at his parents in West Shokan.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Perry spent Sunday evening in Kingston, where they enjoyed, "So This is London," being in the Kingston Opera House. Mrs. Fred Saxe is not so well at this writing.

No less than 153 girls at Vassar College demand a smoking room, and even a majority of the students ask for "more lenient rules governing smoking," although there are 524 girls who don't smoke to 433 who do. Both the agitation and the figures are an indication of the rapid increase of cigarette smoking among young women.

MR. GREENWELL'S LETTER.

An interesting and enlightening letter from the Rev. Robert A. Greenwell is printed in another column of The Freeman today. The peculiarly interesting feature of the letter is that while Mr. Greenwell seems to think he disagrees with The Freeman he really agrees with it exactly on the point discussed. When everybody is for prohibition the law will be enforced, Mr. Greenwell says, and it is only reasonable to infer that until that time comes it will be only partly enforced, the degree of enforcement increasing as the proportion of the people who favor prohibition increases, or decreasing as that proportion decreases. The Freeman has never believed or argued to the contrary. The initial error was in passing a law at the demand of a noisy and unscrupulous minority for which the great majority of the people were not, and may never be, ready. The only way to dispose of an unenforceable law is to repeal it or so modify it that it can and will be enforced. If this is not done, the ability to enforce other laws is weakened and a condition of lawlessness that is little short of anarchy is reached. If Mr. Greenwell will go out in the world and see things for himself, disregarding the assertions of fanatics and of those who talk "dry" and live "wet," he will probably find the proportion favoring prohibition decreasing.

CHICAGO'S PROTEST.

It will cost Chicago a great sum to build a modern disposal system, in lieu of her open drainage canal, which has been condemned as both offensive and antiquated after having lowered the level of the Great Lakes and caused continuing outcry on both sides of the international line; but other cities have done so, and why not the metropolis of the Middle West? Her clamoring neighbors say she must do so, the Supreme Court says she must do so, but Chicago balks, claiming to be the victim of the persecutions of the one and of the tyranny of the other. Chicago sounds a note of defiance. Some of the utterances of her leading newspapers are startling enough to suggest the purpose of actual rebellion. Of course Chicago will ultimately bow to the inevitable, but meanwhile she is determined to fight to the last ditch—to retain her big, ill-smelling ditch. The situation and the battle are thus picturesquely outlined:

"If we are to believe the representatives of some 64 cities along the borders of the Great Lakes, Chicago is a dealer of rivers and robber of waters. To this the citizens of Chicago reply that those who thus attack her are perverters of the truth, jealous and spiteful. Representatives of the cities in convention assembled solemnly resolve that Chicago 'presents the brazen spectacle of undertaking to induce the National Congress to sanctify a bold theft into an honest act.' Chicago retorts that the welfare of the entire Mississippi Valley is at stake, and calls upon the States of the Valley to join her against the cities of wickedness, and in particular to deliver her from the judgment of the Supreme Court of the United States upholding the constitution of her enemies that she has no right to lower the level of the Great Lakes in order to dump her refuse into the Gulf of Mexico."

Three different proposals under which the state would pay a greater percentage of the salaries of school teachers, will be submitted to the Legislature as a result of a conference in Albany between members of the board of regents, leaders of the Legislature and representatives of rural organizations. The plan proposed by the board of regents would cost the state $10,000,000 more than it now pays toward teachers' salaries; the plan suggested by the Committee of 25 would cost $10, 500,000 more and the suggestion of the Rural Improvement Society about $6,500,000 more. Under the plan most likely to be adopted the state would pay from $700 to $1,000 of the salary of each teacher. It is hoped that some just and satisfactory plan will be agreed upon so that the continual bickering that has been going on for several years over the utterly impractical plans of the Committee of 25 will be ended.

FOOD AND BLOOD PRESSURE.

A business man past sixty found it necessary to take out some insurance for the protection of his firm.

When he was examined by the physician it was found that his blood pressure was over 160, which was twenty or more points higher than the company liked to have it.

There was no heart nor kidney trouble, and the applicant appeared to be in the best of health.

The examiner and the agent were in a quandary because the refusal of insurance in one company is quite properly reported to all the companies, and insurance cannot be obtained except with certain reservations.

He was not refused directly but requested to call back in a few weeks.

The agent had the applicant consult another physician, who likewise found the blood pressure 160, but everything else normal.

On enquiring as to his daily habits, he suggested that for an office man he should cut down his food supply by at least twenty-five per cent. He was eating too much for his age, and getting no exercise. No special diet was laid down, except the lessening of the quantity of food eaten.

Further he was to walk to business in the morning, and part of the way home in the evening.

At the end of two weeks the blood pressure was down to 150, another two weeks it was at 140, and he was accepted by the original company which had held up his application temporarily.

Further the applicant felt stronger for his exercise, fresh air, and lessened food intake.

Now what about this?

Well, high blood pressure is not an ailment or a sickness in itself. It is just a symptom that something isn't just right in the system. Some of the British physicians believe that this high blood pressure, where there is no heart or kidney trouble, is entirely due to the poisoning from a lazy intestine.

Other physicians state that it just indicates a sluggishness of the circulation.

Now there are various methods used to reduce the pressure aside from reducing the food and fluids. One of these is the cutting down in the salt intake with the food. Drugs are sometimes used to clear out the excess of salt in the tissues.

However, where there are no complications with the heart or kidneys, it is well to remember that the simple reduction in the food intake, and the using up of tissue by exercise, is a sensible and effective treatment.

BEST DRESSED WOMAN'S MARRIAGE IS DELAYED.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Jan. 30.—An apparently insurmountable obstacle in the Egyptian marriage law halted the marriage of Mrs. Joan Nash, known as "Europe's best dressed woman," and Prince Mohammed Sabit Bey, according to a dispatch today to the Express. They were to have been married in Cairo. On hearing that Mrs. Nash and the prince were en route to Paris from Egypt, friends said there was a possibility they might marry under the French law. Mrs. Nash was born in New York state and was said to have been married to her first husband when she was 17 years of age.

GOOD ROADS

PAVED ROADS PROVE BOON TO VILLAGES

With the completion of another thousand miles of concrete highways in Illinois, there is additional proof that the new hard roads, instead of being a curse to the villages and smaller towns along their route, are a blessing instead. The pessimists in the legislature have argued ever since these improvements were first projected that they would sound the death knell of the rural settlements and that trade would centralize in the larger at the expense of the smaller. It was maintained that farmers who were formerly forced to trade at the village store, due to the embargo of mud, would patronize only the more pretentious stores of the city.

This gloomy condition has never been realized. The "Illini boulevard," which connects St. Louis and Chicago with a band of concrete 300 miles in length, will not show a single town that has deteriorated since the new road was completed. Investigation has revealed that in every instance the population has held steady and, in most instances, increased, while there has been no loss, either in the number of inhabitants or in business.

With thousands of tourists passing through daily in automobiles, each town has become more careful of its appearance. A more attractive front has been displayed. There has been a universal cleanup. Attractive filling stations line the new highway, surrounded by shrubs and flowers and with well-kept lawns and driveways. They replaced dilapidated buildings or other eyesores. Rubbish has been removed. Stores and residence premises, visible from the hard road, are well maintained. There is an air of neatness and orderliness, never before so pronounced. It is an ever visible invitation to halt and patronize the "gas" stations or other places of business.

A count, maintained for several days during the tourist season, led to the estimate that during the year 1,000 cars from other states passed over the new boulevard every day on the average en route either to Chicago or St. Louis. This means more than 900,000 for the year. Probably the occupants of every car spent from $5 to $10 on the trip for supplies or food. The villages received their share of this sum, enormous in the aggregate, perhaps $2,000,000. Roadside stands, where farm products, fruits, vegetables, eggs and butter are on sale, have been opened at many places between the villages and have been profitable.

Lad Wins Big Prize

John Linka, high school youth of Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., has been announced as winner of the H. S. First-state four-year university scholarship for the best essay in the 8th annual good roads essay contest. More than 200,000 high school students throughout the United States and territorial possessions sought the honor which fell to this lad.

Double Tonnage Since War

Freight hauled over British highways has increased from 150 per cent to 200 per cent since the war, according to a road survey near Sheffield, reported in Motor Transport (British).

Seven thoroughfares studied were supporting over 10,000 tons of traffic daily and 16 between 6,000 and 10,000 tons.

"The percentage of heavy motor vehicles has, of course, greatly increased," states the report, "the present figure being 12 per cent as against a present average percentage of 36 per cent."

Abolishing Death Trap

Elimination of six dangerous grade crossings on the Montreal division of the Long Island railroad east of Jamaica, including the crossing at Merrick road, Springfield, generally regarded by experts as one of the most dangerous crossings on the Long Island lines, was ordered by the New York transit commission. One-quarter of the $1,000,000 cost will be met by the state, one-quarter by the city and the remainder by the railroad company.

6% INVESTMENTS have been paid by the "Home-Owners' Cooperative Savings & Loan Association for 20 years. Now in the time to subscribe for shares in the new series. Call at the office, No. 3 EAST STREET.

1100 Students At High School

Ninety Pupils Entered This Month—Despite Congested Conditions Classes Run Smoothly.

The Kingston High School is now running smoothly again after the brief interruption of the January regents' examinations and the promotions of the grammar schools. In spite of the ninety new pupils entering this January and the congested conditions in the class rooms the classes were running regularly and smoothly by Thursday.

There will soon have to be some remedy found for the congested conditions at the high school. There are now about eleven hundred pupils enrolled. It is expected that there will be a greater number of students than ever before entering next September.

CLEVELAND BREAKS RECORD IN CALIFORNIA RACES

The Broadway Garage has received a telegram announcing the victory of a Cleveland automobile in California which with Ralph Mulford at the wheel broke the 1,000 mile record. The distance was covered in seven hundred forty-five minutes twenty-two and two-fifths seconds, averaging 86.6 miles per hour for the distance. This again places the Cleveland Six, for which the Broadway Garage has the local agency, in high standing in automobile circles. The race against time was to prove the efficiency and stamina of the car.

New Organist at St. John's Church

Announcement has just been made by the Newburgh News that Robert Williams, director of the music department of the Newburgh Academy, has signed a contract with the vestry of St. John's Episcopal Church, Kingston, and will take up his duties as organist and choirmaster in that parish on March 1. Negotiations have been under way for the past month between the Kingston church and Mr. Williams, resulting in a unanimous call at a large salary. The contract also provides for a fund of $1,500 for the payment of singers for the choir. The choir consists of men and boys, a field of musical endeavor in which Mr. Williams has been unusually successful. It is understood the contract covers a period of several years. Mr. Williams will continue as head of music in the Academy, as he expects to make Newburgh his home, and commute to Kingston. He will also continue as special instructor in piano in St. Thomas's Choir School, New York city, a post he has held for several months. Mr. Williams will also continue with his large class of private pupils in this city.

WRITERS DIFFER ON REAL "ROUGHNECK"

One Explanation Does Not Seem to Satisfy.

The Klondike poet, Robert W. Service, who has a prodigious reputation among American university graduates, hundreds of whom can quote pages and pages of his verse, has finally launched a work of prose fiction, called "The Roughneck."

I have often meditated on the origin of that word, and the paper jacket, which incidentally is full of other interesting information, gives Mr. Service's explanation: "I think the origin of 'The Roughneck' dates back to the time when to shave the back of one's neck was a sign of sartorial grace. In my early Alaskan days every barber would ask you if you wanted a 'neck shave,' and not to have one put you in the category of those who were indifferent to their appearance, or too unsophisticated to conform to the fashion of the day. You were a man with hair on his neck; in brief, a roughneck. The fashion soon passed, but the expression remains."

Now when I was a boy, my virgin aunt, who, like all virgin aunts know far more about the world and was far more in sympathy with it than one's mother, said to me emphatically: "Don't you ever allow any barber to shave the back of your neck." She said, "Whatever may later have been the social dynamics in Alaska, she said that a man whose neck was outside of the pale of po-particular interest in Mr. Service's explanation, for during the last 20 years in these United States, my observation proves just the opposite. I have never seen a genuine tough who did not have the back of his neck shaved. And I divide all barbers into two classes—those who, without asking you, attempt to shave the back of your neck, and those who would no more perpetrate such a monstrosity than they would shave off your ears.

It is, as Barrie's policeman would say, a test absolutely "infallible." No New York or Boston barber has ever done any necking on me; but in every small town west of Buffalo, unless I am alert, I get a large dose of lather under the cerebellum.

But how in the world did Aunt Libbie know this test 45 years ago? That was some time before Mr. Service was born—William Lyon Phelps in Scribner's Magazine.

Who Am I?

I have scattered bread crumbs, egg shells and paper plates from the Rio Grande to the Great Lakes. I have hacked trees and broken down farmers' fences from coast to coast.

I have hooked peaches from a Georgia orchard and pecans in southern California, apples from the beautiful Genesee valley in New York and cantaloupes from a Colorado truck patch.

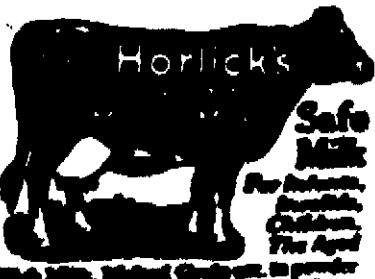

I have thrown tin cans into the Grand canyon and empty bottles into Niagara's roaring tumult.

I have seen all, heard all and in my worst way have managed to destroy much.

I am the American tourist.—Rialto C. Nigger in Judge.

Athletics for Babies

A gymnasium for babies has been opened in Berlin by a former physical instructor in a Potsdam military school. "Every six-months-old baby should do five to ten minutes' daily exercise with its mother or nurse," said the instructor. "If my advice were followed, the appalling number of cripples in this country would be greatly diminished. Regular graduated exercises ensure harmonious development, correct posture, and firm bones." The gymnasium, with its furnishings of miniature swings, ladders and bars, is for the professor's older pupils; that is, those from eighteen months to five years old.

TODAY WE CELEBRATE

SAN FRANCISCO.

The first to give the name of San Francisco to the future metropolis of the coast were two Irish, Francisco Palon and Benite Cambon, who in 1776 left Monterey with seven civilians and 17 dragoons, with their families, and established the Spanish Mission of San Francisco. In 1835 William A. Richardson, an Englishman, erected the first tent on the site of the present city, three miles from the mission, on what is now Dupont street, and began dealing in hides and tallow.

The next year Jacob F. Loese arrived at the Mission, and erected the first dwelling. In 1833 Jean Vioget surveyed the town and laid out the streets and lots. In 1841 two Americans built a saw-mill, and in 1846 Capt. Montgomery of the War-Sloop "Portsmouth" raised the American flag on what became "Portsmouth Square" and a little later a ship arrived from New York with 200 Mormon emigrants. This little community was known as Yerba Buena until January 30, 1847, just 78 years ago today, when the Alcalde officially changed the name to San Francisco.

DUCHESS OF FONTANGES.

Marie Angellique, Duchess of Fontanges, was the successor to Madame Montespan in the favor of Louis XIV. "She was beautiful as an angel, but silly as a goose," said Abbe Choisi of her.

She nevertheless captivated the affections of Louis XIV, who was tired of Madame de Montespan. As soon as she had discovered the passion she had inspired in the king she became haughty and extravagant, spending at times as much as one hundred thousand crowns a month. She became the general dispenser of the king's favors, and the model of fashion. She was made a duchess by the king, but did not long enjoy the rank, since she died at the age of twenty, in the abbey of Port Royal, at Paris.

FRANCISQUE SOLONS.

One hundred and twenty-seven years ago today in the young congress of the new nation the first set-light between Uncle Sam's lawmakers took place, on January 20, 1798. The "set-to" took place between Representative Roger Griswold, of Connecticut and Matthew Lyon, of Vermont, who engaged in a battle royal on the floor of the House. Lyon used a pair of fire-tongs as a weapon, and Griswold a cane. The latter had the best of it and after knocking his opponent down with his set, dragged him about the hall by his feet before the astonished House recovered itself sufficiently to intervene. In subsequent quarrels in Congress, revolvers often figured, and on late in 1838, Congressman Wiley was killed in a duel following a quarrel in the House of Representatives with Representative

GLORIA SWANSON. INTE.

Gloria Swanson, American motion picture star, who has been making pictures in France, has been married in Paris to the Marquis de la Falaise de la Courduy. This is her third matrimonial venture, two others to Herbert K. Sornborn and Wallace Beery, picture actor, having ended in the divorce courts. She has one daughter, Gloria Sornborn, two years old, and recently adopted a son, Joseph, as the child's playmate.

Schubert Choral Club Concert

At High School Auditorium On February 9—Harry T. Burleigh, Famous Negro Baritone The Soloist. Much interest is being manifested in the appearance of Harry T. Burleigh, famous negro baritone, of New York city, who is to be the soloist at the concert of the Schubert Choral Club at the High School Auditorium on Monday evening, February 9th.

The club was organized by the local Y. W. C. A. with Miss Virginia Los Kamp as director, and has been doing fine work. Their program is of a high order, and one of the selections they will give is a spiritual, "Didn't M. Rahn?" which was written by Mr. Burleigh.

Burleigh's negro blood is mixed with Scotch and Indian. His grandmother, who was a slave in Maryland, was the daughter of a Scotch woman and was married to an Indian. Left fatherless at an early age, Burleigh supported himself by odd jobs but managed to attend the public schools. Always he wanted to study music and always he sang, at work, in the shops, in the street, about the house. At the age of 26 he heard of the New York Conservatory of Music and learned that scholarships were open there. He saved assiduously until he had enough to go. He sang for the conservatory committee and won a scholarship. He studied and worked there for four years. And now every one knows and loves Burleigh's spirituals. Every glee club and quartet in the country has them on its program.

For thirty years Mr. Burleigh has been baritone soloist at St. George's Church in Stuyvesant Square. It was in 1894 that he heard of a vacancy in the choir there, and he was one of sixty candidates and the only negro who applied. The place was given to him.

Tickets for the concert may be secured from members of the club and are also on sale at the Y. M. C. A. and the Chamber of Commerce. They are good not only for the concert but will admit the patrons to a party to be held in the Y. W. C. A. immediately following the concert. Music for dancing will be rendered by the Black Cap Orchestra and the affair will be chaperoned by members of the Y. W. C. A. Board of Directors.

GREAT DEMAND FOR NEW PALTZ BARRELS

This winter at the George Milham Cooperage at New Paltz, work is steadily going on. Barrels are being shipped for immediate use in various storage plants and to the factory at Hobart, where powdered milk is made. The cooperage has storage for 17,000 barrels.

This is the best season at the New Paltz Cooperage, 50,000 barrels having been manufactured and sold.

WHAT THE WILD AIR WAVES ARE SAYING

The mystery of the why and wherefore of changing wave lengths grows more profound each day. WOC, Davenport, Iowa, which used 444 meters until recently it was changed to 498 meters was going strong last night on 488 meters. Earlier in the evening it was on 498 meters.

KHJ, Los Angeles, formerly 355 meters, has changed to 404 meters, utterly destroying the old formula for "tuning the coast" by tuning in on WDAH and waiting for that station to sign off, when, if your luck was good, Los Angeles came in. KHJ now has a position all its own, just a little lower than WHAS, on which it came in well last night.

If any radio fan is lacking in knowledge of the hopes and fears of the Hannibal, Missouri, Chamber of Commerce it is his own fault, as WOS filled the air last night with music and oratory from the annual dinner of that body.

Radio musical critics declare that there were positively no files on the organ recital from WPG, Atlanta, City 224 meters.

WDBZ was stronger and clearer than ever last night and put every station under 300 meters out of business on most radio sets. On any reasonably good set, properly tuned, it did not interfere with stations using over 300 meters, although by improper tuning it can be made to "come in all over the dial," as the members of the Knockers' Club say.

Indian Monsoons

The heavy rainfall in India is caused by the monsoons or winds blowing part of the year from one direction, alternating with winds from the opposite direction. The southwest monsoon blows from April to September and is surcharged with vapor from the Indian ocean. It condenses in torrents on the heights of the Chats and forms the rivers which flow to the east.

DOROTHY ELLINGSON'S BIRTH CERTIFICATE
& HANGMAN'S NOOSE. INTE.

This facsimile of the birth certificate of Dorothy Ellingson, San Francisco "moth girl," who murdered her mother so she could attend a jazz party, shows that she was born in Minneapolis, Minn., in April, 1908, and is therefore only sixteen years old. Under the California law she cannot, therefore, be hanged. "You had the courage to kill your mother. Now have the courage to use this on yourself," said the note that accompanied this hangman's noose to the girl's cell. It was sent by an anonymous writer.

DOGS RACE FOR NOME WITH ANTITOXIN BURDEN

NOME, ALASKA. INTE.

They are writing another epic in the Northlands to-day. Battling along a 400 mile snow-covered path in a temperature of forty degrees below zero, the fastest and most faithful dog teams in Alaska are fighting the blizzard to reach Nome, capital of Alaska, with 300,000 units of antitoxin to combat the diphtheria epidemic raging there. The serum was started on the 400 mile trip from Anchorage by Dr. J. B. Reeson, who in 1920 made a dog team race 600 miles to Iditarod with diphtheria antitoxin. The best drivers in Alaska are mushing along the relays with the antitoxin. There is only one doctor in Nome.

APES TERRORIZE SIERRA LEONE

British Hunters End Killings Charged to Bewitched Animals.

London.—Capt. W. B. Stanley, British commissioner of the southern province of Sierra Leone, when in London on leave, told a London Chronicle representative of his single-handed fight against the ingrained mysticism of the East.

"Shortly after my arrival at Sierra Leone," he said, "I found the country scared by mysterious deaths and mutilations. Children, in particular, vanished frequently and were found dreadfully mangled. Sometimes women were waylaid in the bush. They were found bitten to death and torn to pieces.

"The trouble was that the natives hushed up these atrocities and the government officials, when endeavoring to investigate them, met with a baffling secrecy. The natives declared that the deaths were due to weird creatures in the forests with the form and malignity of apes, but invested with the spirit of men with magic powers. The government officials believed they were caused by common murderers clothed in animal skins.

Rites of the Leopard Men.

"Now, I had an idea that both solutions were wrong, for I loved hunting and knew the ways of apes. Sierra Leone had been from time immemorial the haunt of leopardism. Witchmen, anxious to gain power over the populace and jealous of British prestige, banded themselves together in secret societies—notably those of the Leopard.

"Clad in leopard skins and wearing iron claws attached to their hands, the Leopard men performed weird rites whose imagined details thrilled the minds of the common natives. The Leopard men were believed to be able to project their spirit into the bodies of real bush-leopards and to kill human beings.

"Now, the spasm of terrorism that I found in existence in my province was due to ape-mauling, and the history of the leopards at once suggested human apes-fends to the popular mind.

"The witch doctors thrived on the lack of understanding between natives and officials, and fostered it for political motives.

Apes the Real Offenders.

"So I set traps, had them watched by natives, and organized supplies of arms and ammunition.

"Then we got our first brute. I was right, and I made sure the evidence was served up to the natives. The murderous creature was neither man nor spirit. It was simply an ape—meat right through—such as you see in a zoo, but enormously bigger and very savage.

"I kept the system going, and apes were shot or trapped regularly. Before long the government began to issue ammunition for specific use against marauding apes.

"The immediate influence on British prestige was marked. The natives realized that the government was out to help them, and that all the mumbo-jumbo of the witch-doctors was spoof.

"Even the old-established cult of Leopardism began to tremble, especially when we shot a leopard that had killed twenty-four natives, and that they believed to be an unsavory and superhuman leopard-man.

"The medicine men were very 'tick,' and we have been the best of friends with the natives ever since. The exploding of the ape-man superstition did it all."

Captain Stanley's mascot is the skull of a great ape he shot. Some of the toughest Sierra Leone apes weigh 140 pounds, have a 6-foot arm span and a 30-inch chest. The only specimen of this kind believed ever to have been taken is in the South Kensington museum.

Buried in Mummy Fashion at Cost of About $3,000

St. Louis.—The last wish of Joseph Marconot, sixty-four, who died in a hospital here December 23 last, that his body be preserved after the fashion of the mummies of Egypt, was gratified with interest here recently. Three thousand dollars out of the $70,000 estate left by Marconot was set aside for this purpose. The body was incased in a casket of bronze, with a glass-covered aperture through which the face could be seen. Bronze was decided upon for its endurance qualities after consideration of several other metals.

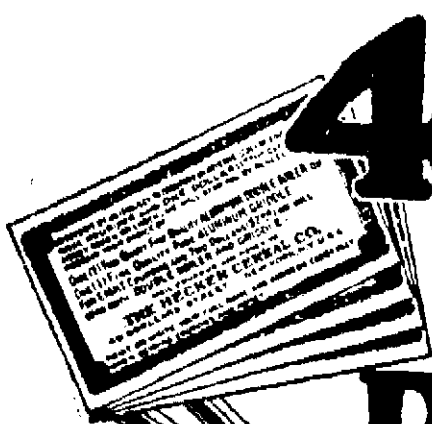

Large Family

Columbia, Ky.—When the family meal is served in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Orlin Bryant of this county, 20 chairs are placed around the table. Bryant is fifty and Mrs. Bryant forty. They have been married 20 years and have had 19 children, 18 of whom are living at home. One is dead. The oldest child is twenty-six and the youngest a year old.

Too Many Men

Warren, Pa.—Polish railroads are expensive to operate because of the large number of employees. This averages 22 for each kilometer of track, as against seven men in France and five in the United States. It is declared by experts that Poland could dispense with 20,000 railroad employees and thus save $20,000,000 a year.

THE MANNISH TOUCH.

(By Eleanor Gunn.)

Possibly because of the element of the unexpected, which is always creeping into the situation, fashions are so perpetually interesting. We have a season of boyish clothes, a time when to look the garcon is every woman's aim, then we go in for the lure of the eternally feminine, and suddenly comes word that the top-coat for women is to be the product of her husband's, father's, or brother's tailor, and that men's wear houses are adding women's topcoats to "their lines," as the collection is technically known.

others, while polo models comes with patch pockets, one at either side, and one breast pocket.

There is, of course, less of a tendency to mannishness in dresses, though the two-piece sports dress is frequently "boyish." Channel's sports shirt is a factor in resort apparel—and nothing could be more masculine than that. Yet, on the other hand, all coats are not of the masculine persuasion, as witness a black bengaline trimmed with kasha in a brilliant shade of blue, the hat being identical with it.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Charming "Tank" Style.

4962. This is an excellent model for a combination of two materials. Brown satin and figured crepe are here illustrated. The dress may be finished without the "Tank" as shown in the small size. The long sleeve portions may be omitted.

This pattern is cut in 2 sizes: 14, 16 and 20 years. To make the design as illustrated in the large view, for an 18 year size will require 2 1/2 yards of satin, and 2 yards of crepe. 10 inches wide. If made without the long sleeve portions 1 1/2 yard less of the satin will be required. The width at the foot is 36 inches.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Poultry Plague Under Control

As Result of Embargo On Shipments of Live Chickens and Fowls, Says Commissioner Pyrke—Two Outbreaks in Ulster.

As a result of the embargo established by the Department of Farms and Markets on the shipment of live chickens and fowls out of New York city and into this state from several mid-western states and as a result of further precautions taken, poultry plague which destroyed tons of chickens is well under control, according to Commissioner Berne A. Pyrke. The disease has been confined generally to points where the original outbreaks were discovered in and around New York city and has not reached up-state districts to any extent.

Commissioner Pyrke stated that, while the embargo would be continued, the steps taken in combating the disease have been so successful that permission was given for the holding of the annual poultry show in Madison Square Garden last week, with veterinarians of the department present to supervise the cleaning and disinfecting of the fancy poultry containers.

The commissioner stated that the disease had resulted in the loss in large amounts of live poultry, pointing out that in one day in New York twenty-seven tons of chickens, dead or affected with the disease, were destroyed, and that on several other days about the same number of tons were disposed of. These chickens, he stated, were shipped in from states included in the quarantine order.

Early in December reports were received by the Department that chickens were dying in large numbers in the New York markets. H. J. Henry, Director of the Bureau of Animal Industry, made an investigation and found that the disease had made great progress in New York and that there had been two outbreaks on Long Island. There was some difference of opinion at first with regard to the character of the disease, but it has been generally referred to as poultry plague.

An embargo was declared on December 12, prohibiting the shipment of live fowls out of New York city and prohibiting the shipment of chickens into this state from Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, North Dakota, Indiana, South Dakota, Iowa and Kansas. In addition to this, measures were taken by the department in the matter of cleaning and disinfecting crates and cars, and it was due to these that the spread of the disease has been checked and losses reduced.

There has been some evidence of outbreaks in New Jersey, Connecticut, Pennsylvania and Ohio, with the result that these will be added to the list of states included in the embargo order.

Following the action by the Department of Farms and Markets was the action of the federal government in declaring a quarantine and that of forty other states.

Investigation by the department showed three or four outbreaks in Dutchess county and two in Ulster, which were immediately given attention, the premises being cleaned and disinfected under the direction of department veterinarians. These were traceable to New York city markets. Another outbreak was discovered in the Ulster market, and similar action was taken. The third outbreak in Rochester. The third outbreak in Rochester was thought to have been traceable to Buffalo shipments, but no reports have been received from Buffalo indicating the existence of the poultry plague there.

The Reason Why

There is an excellent reason why electric service companies build their steam-driven generating stations on the shore of a river, lake, bay or harbor. For every pound of coal burned in the furnaces of such stations, nearly a half ton of water is needed to condense the steam produced after it has passed through the turbine which turns the electric dynamo. At one such steam-operated electric generating station in the South all of the water of a sizable river is diverted from the river bed and passes over the condensing pipes of the plant's boilers.

New Safety Lamp

The United States bureau of mines has approved a new type of electric safety lamp for miners, which produces three times as much light as previous types, while the battery and lamp together weigh but a third as much as the older designs. A special lamp is used and if it is broken electricity from the two-cell alkaline battery is automatically cut off.

Coaling Big Liner

An idea of the enormous amount of coal carried by the giant ocean liner may be gained from the fact that 300 men working from four to four and one-half days are required to coal the Olympic.

Mr. Greenwell Finds the Way

Prohibition Will be Enforced When Pretty Nearly Everybody is in Favor of It and Takes It Seriously.

Editor Kingston Daily Freeman, City.

My Dear Sir:

The January 6th copy of The Freeman has demanded a conspicuous place on my desk for many days. An editorial entitled "Enforcement Prospects" caused one section of the paper to live with me and just one broad question compels me to attempt a feeble answer. You ask, "How is this thing to be stopped or scandalous conditions even changed for the better?" Who knows the answer at Washington or elsewhere?

I find myself not in accord with the other parts of your well prepared article, but believe it written by one who is sincere, but nevertheless by one who is largely influenced by one argument—probably all the facts have not been weighed. Allow me to say that, in my opinion, the author of "Enforcement Prospects" was perfectly sincere when he wrote the article and possibly he thoroughly agrees with Thomas L. Masson who, in dealing with Arthur Schopenhauer's philosophy concerning happiness, accorded the German philosopher a place in the column with men who are correct, but nevertheless erroneous in their views. Masson says "It still remains true that if he believes that a certain thing is so, then for him it is so." The editor of The Freeman may believe that Prohibition and Enforcement have utterly failed, then for him they have failed, but a large number of your readers do not believe that Prohibition is a failure, well then for them it is not a failure.

No, the Millennium has not come with the Volstead Act, and probably no other congressional act will usher it in, but, Mr. Editor, Prohibition with its faulty enforcement has brought comfortable homes to some of the homeless poor, wholesome food to some of the undernourished and warm clothes to some who were shivering. That is practically all that was hoped for Prohibition. But it will go way beyond this when your question is answered—no, not answered by word but by action. Emerson was correct when he said: "Your actions speak so loudly I cannot hear what you say." And, when will that time come? Surely not as long as our politicians insist upon appointing ex-saloon keepers and their chums, companions and associates to the enforcement office. Now, really, doesn't it sound ridiculous to think of asking men to enforce laws that they despise? We have had a lot of trouble with sneak thieves and robbers in Kingston of late. Now, what would our citizens say if we should discharge one-half of our honest, efficient policemen and fill their places with thieves and crooks or even with men who say it isn't wrong to steal and if a man wants to blow the safe at Wonderly's store twice in two weeks, that isn't bad and I won't worry much about it. Now, let's be honest, Mr. Editor, with such a policy. Where are we headed for? Answer, a repetition of the enforcement act to which you refer.

Yes, we allow, as you quote, that out of 4,990 dry agents, 570 of them have been dismissed and probably as many more should be "fired."

Now, here is the answer to your question. The scandalous condition will be changed when the courts, platform men, all public officials and newspaper men give a wholehearted support to the fundamental laws of the land, and when the enforcement of Prohibition is taken seriously by all who have taken a solemn oath, with right hand pointed to heaven, that they would support the constitution of the United States.

Yours, very truly,

REV. A. GREENWELL.

Birds Constantly at Work for Humanity

In a new country where the natural conditions of plant and animal life are changed, the balance of nature is likely to be upset. The value of bird life is perhaps greater in checking a plague in its incipient stage. In parts of the Middle West there were serious outbreaks of the Rocky mountain locust or grasshopper many years ago, says Nature Magazine of Washington, D. C. Prof. Aubrey of the University of Nebraska carried on a series of observations showing that the birds of these localities were helping a great deal to check the insect numbers.

Thrushes, kinglets, chickadees, nuthatches, warblers, vireos, swallows, crows, bluejays, blackbirds, kingfishers, cuckoos, woodpeckers, hawks, owls, pigeons, grouse, quail, gulls, and even humming birds and water birds had all taken to eating locusts. Fifty-one forests were taken from the stomach of a single yellow-headed blackbird. A tiny ruby-throated humming bird had four small locusts in its stomach. Six robins had eaten 25 locusts. Sixty-seven locusts were found in the stomachs of three bluebirds, and one little ruby-crowned kinglet had eaten 20. Many of these and other birds were feeding their young on locusts.

One barn owl had eaten 20 locusts. Five screech-owls had eaten 210 locusts. Six of the blue jay-birds had eaten an average of more than fifty locusts each, the magazine article continues. Hawks, as a class, were scarcely less active, for of the eleven species listed as having been examined by him, six were found to have eaten locusts.

A grass-opper pest in southern Oregon was something like the plague of grasshoppers that came upon the early Mormon settlers in Utah during the summer of 1863. The crops of the Mormons were partly saved by the great flocks of gulls that came in and settled over the fields, gorging themselves on the insects.

Don't let this good advice be lost, to grab it you should try. The things you get for nothing cost more than the things you buy.

What's the difference between a chicken and a hen? Well, a chicken knows just as much as a hen, only she hasn't had as much experience.

A man unaccustomed to praising his wife, went out of his way to call her angel.

She ventured to ask why she had been so honored. "Well," said the wily one, "in the first place, you are always sitting about; secondly, you are always harping on things; and thirdly, according to what you say, you have nothing to wear."

"With or Without Bath." The landlady was showing the prospective lodger over the house.

"I think you'd find everything comfortable," she assured him. "This'd be the livin' room."

He poked his head inside, and nodded. "And this," said the landlady, conducting him down a way that was dark, "this is the bedroom. Good an' hairy, see."

"Quite so," assented the victim, withdrawing.

"An' this," proceeded the dame, "is our bathroom. Nice little room, ain't it?"

The young man stared blankly. "Yes," he agreed, "but—"

"Oh," broke in the landlady, "if you should ever want to use the bath, I desay we could find another place for the coal."

To Hollywood a friend of ours fled. He had urge for stardom in his head. But he has spent the last ten years in big productions, totin' spears.

Submarine Will Probably Sink

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Portsmouth, N. H., Jan. 30.—Part of the crew of the stranded United States submarine S-48 were rescued today by coast guardmen and tugs. They were taken off the submarine as she left the rocks at the mouth of Little Harbor here and drifted a mile and a half off shore in a howling northeast gale.

A skeleton crew of about twenty officers and men was left aboard the undersea boat.

Radio messages from the ships standing by the stricken naval craft indicated that she was in danger of going down and that she had a hole in her bottom.

This forenoon naval tugs and chartered craft were standing by the S-48 ready to take off the remaining members of the crew at a moment's notice.

As the tide slackened, however, efforts were to be made, radiograms to shore from the rescue ships said, to tow the S-48 to the Portsmouth navy yard.

In a blinding snow storm obscuring vision and in the teeth of a biting northeast gale the big naval submarine was towed up last night on the rocks at the mouth of Little Harbor.

Through the spuming foam and the swirling snow coast guardmen on shore first saw her red rockets of distress and the naval operator at the wireless station at the local navy yard picked up her calls of "S. O. S."

Coast guardmen risked their lives in the 50 mile an hour gale to launch a life boat to go to the rescue of the stranded submarine.

As dawn began to break a breeches buoy apparatus was set up at Fort Starbuck, New Castle. But high seas prevented its use.

Fears for the brave naval men aboard the submarine were expressed on all sides among the watchers on shore.

Trawlers had smashed their way through the snow drifts on the beach roads to Fort Starbuck. In their wake came motor ambulances, carrying blankets and medical supplies.

Lights went out on the submarine and this gave the shore watchers more concern.

This morning however, as the tide came in, the big undersea boat began to ease off the rocks at Little Harbor. Later she started to float seaward.

By this time rescue ships had come up. It was deemed wise to take off part of the crew. The twenty men on board were manning the pumps. It was thought that the S-48 had a crack in one of her seams and was leaking slightly.

Giant seas were breaking over the submarine as she lay riding out the gale a mile and a half off shore.

From a Studio's Essay
A mirror is a popular subject, for there are lots of people who are always looking into it. Most mirrors are square, yet everywhere we go we see them round. Often, like a waiter, a mirror has to be tipped or it won't give good service. Most of us see something to like in a mirror, yet it always casting reflections on our personal appearance.—Boston Transcript.

CHIEF FIGURES IN NEWS OF THE DAY

Son's Failure Led to Lincoln's Great Effort

James L. Ford, in "Forty-odd Years in the Literary Shop," tells that when he was five years old children began to hear from the lips of their elders mention of a man named Lincoln, whose speech in Cooper Union hall, New York, provoked much discussion. Many years after Mr. Ford chanced to learn that this speech, whose consequences were so far reaching, was the result of his son's failure to pass a scholastic examination.

Robert T. Lincoln had come from his Illinois farm with the intention of entering Harvard college and had failed in his examinations, says the Detroit News. His father was much distressed and, though money was by no means plentiful with him, he determined to go to the boy's assistance, and accordingly made the journey to Cambridge.

While there one of the committee then arranging for the great Cooper Union meeting, suggested the propriety of inviting Mr. Lincoln, whom he had once listened to in the West, to address the assembly and the invitation was promptly sent. So little was Mr. Lincoln then known in the East that

William Cullen Bryant, the presiding officer, introduced him in the following words:

"We shall next have the pleasure of hearing from Mr. Abraham Lincoln of Illinois, of whom some of you have undoubtedly heard." There were in deed some present who had heard of Lincoln and his championship of abolition and for several minutes a storm of howls and hisses prevented him from speaking. He finally did speak, and that speech placed the Presidential nomination in the hollow of his hand.

NOT WISE PLAN FOR OPPOSITES TO MATE

Writer Takes Issue With Long-Accepted Maxim.

Considering the hands of both husband and wife together is most interesting and most enlightening. I'd say to engaged couples, "Go and have your characters analyzed together." It's good advice and they'd probably adore doing it.

But would they profit thereby? Not if they were really in love, as I told a gentleman who brought me his fiancée to look over. However, let me state right here that that ancient saw about the attraction of opposites may be right as to attraction, but it's all wrong as to suitability. The happiest, most enduring marriages are founded upon likeness. The more alike the better, unless, perhaps, it's a matter of violent temper, when, of course, the companion should have balance and self-control.

Also super-sensitiveness and jealousy should never be doubted. Two of these together will make themselves and the angels weep. By all means, let artist marry artist or art lover, and musicians are better mated to the musical, the business woman to the business man.

And, above all, look for a similarity in a sense of humor. Dissimilarity of that all-important sense has ruined more homes than ramps, drink and religious differences put together. How to tell it? Um—that's hard, for it isn't to be found in the lines. Truly adaptable people, who are those with a sense of humor, have the flexible head, warm in color and warm in its heat quality. The palm is invariably spotted, the flanges of the fingers well proportioned, apt to be a trifle wide at the tips, which are sensitive. People with large bumps of ambition, which bump is right under the first finger, very seldom own that cherished gift. Why, heaven only knows.

That other old saw about "Man's love is of a man's life a thing apart, 'tis woman's whole existence" is all bosh. With many women it is a thing apart, and with innumerable men it is their whole existence.

The love-dependent man is really more common than the love-dependent woman, and his number is increasing; or rather, the love-dependent woman is decreasing, as she finds that work is an anodyne.—Ethel Watts Mumford in the Saturday Evening Post.

New Vitamins

Scientists at the University of California are working on two recently discovered vitamins which may prove of great importance in lengthening life and in preventing animal sterility.

One is a vitamin discovered in tea. It has been named "biota" and is supposed to have 300 times the life-giving qualities of other similar vitamins previously found in yeast. "Biota" was discovered, it is reported, as a result of observations that tea drinking peoples, including Chinese, Japanese, Irish and English, are longer lived than some other nationalities.

The second substance discovered, a flake extracted from wheat, is said to have increased animal fertility to a marked degree. However, the substance is present in such small quantities that only a few flakes were secured from a ton of grain.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Buckskin Cheaters

Buckskin, from which gloves are made, comes for the most part from Mexico and Brazil.

The skins are usually smaller than those of sheep and seldom perfect because of the wounds or thorn scratches. The latter do not weaken the gloves, however, and, in fact, a visible scratch is pretty good proof that a glove is genuine buck and not sheep dressed to imitate buckskin, says the Springfield Republican. The leather is dressed in oil and the color is obtained with colored clay dust. Because of this method of coloring every buckskin glove will dull or crack the first three or four times it is worn. Buck leather is close fibered, soft after wearing and warm.

Interest Cut in Half

The United States court for China, Shanghai, recently held that the legal rate of interest applicable on judgments rendered by the United States court for China was 6 per cent per annum. In the past a rate of 12 per cent has been allowed, in conformity with an old consular regulation permitting this rate of interest on judgments. The court held, however, that the District of Columbia code provided a legal rate of 6 per cent interest on judgments, that this was the law for the United States court for China, and that in the future only this rate would be permissible.

Windy

Chicago now holds the world's murder record, and Secretary Sawyer of the Anti-Profanity League, denouncing in Waukegan, the defense that the Windy City has put up, said:

"A windy defense. A defense that was nobody's. A defense evasive of the chicken thief who said to his lawyer:

"Put me on the stand. Let me tell my own story. It'll be believed."

"Till carry conviction," the lawyer asserted."

FAMOUS FORTS IN U. S. HISTORY

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

Grant's "Unconditional Surrender" Note.

"No terms except an unconditional and immediate surrender can be accepted. I propose to move immediately upon your works." That laconic dispatch is famous in American history. Written to Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, the Confederate commander at Fort Donelson, Tenn., by Gen. U. S. Grant on February 16, 1862, it gave to the Union commander the nickname of "Unconditional Surrender" Grant.

At the opening of the Civil war the Confederates built Fort Donelson on the Cumberland river and Fort Henry on the Tennessee to protect Nashville, the very heart of the Confederacy, from an invasion from the north. Erected on a hill 120 feet above the river, surrounded by two and a half miles of rifle pits and protected on the river side by three great batteries, Fort Donelson was one of the most important points in the Mississippi valley.

On February 4 Fort Henry fell before the cannon of Commodore Foote's flotilla of gunboats, but when that commander moved to attack Fort Donelson he was speedily repulsed. Meanwhile General Grant had moved against Donelson and for three days a fierce battle raged during which each army lost more than 20,000 men. On February 15 the garrison tried to cut its way through Grant's lines but was driven back into the fort.

The next day Buckner sent a note under a white flag asking Grant what terms he would give if the Confederates gave up the fort. Grant's historic reply was the famous "Unconditional Surrender" note. The great Union victory of the war was won and 14,000 gray-jackets marched out and laid down their arms. The largest number of men ever captured up to that time in any battle on the American continent. The victory at Fort Donelson opened the way for the capture of the great city of Vicksburg, the last of the Confederacy's strongholds, which fell on July 4, 1863, after a long and bloody siege.

The surrender of Nashville and Columbia was followed. Kentucky and Tennessee were now in the hands of the Union forces and General S. Grant had won the military campaign that ended triumphantly at Appomattox.

SOME SPORTS COSTUMES FROM THE RIVIERA

(By Eleanor Goss.)

What the other half of the world is wearing is, in its way, quite as thrilling knowledge as how they live. From the Riviera, one learns much that is helpful in planning for a trip south—even for spring, for this reason, rather definite descriptions of costumes ordered for the south of France are given.

and plain cotton voile is made with plain borders on skirt and coat to match the color of the blouse.

Two shades of pink in broad vertical bands are combined in the accordion pleated crepe de chine skirt, flaked with a jumper blouse in a lighter toned crepe de chine, elaborately embroidered with silk and small China bands.

The strongest tendency in sports types is toward the ensemble. These are made up in wool creases or cashmere twills, rather than the manish mixture of the tailored gown.

Banded or cross-banded patterns are frequently employed, but comparatively few plaids so far. The fancy material usually making the coat, repeated on the lower part of the dress. Either white or the ultramarine brown and gray shades appear most frequently in the sports models made for the chic Parisienne.

Games Tonight At St. Peter's

Ellenville Wanderers Will Play Lycium Five-Winner Outing To Meet Junior Saints In Opener.

The fast Ellenville Wanderers will be the attraction in the main event at the St. Peter's Lycium court this evening, playing the Lycium squad. The Ellenville team comes here with a splendid record, having beaten some fast quintets this season.

In the visiting line-up this evening will be seen Taylor and Trap-hagen in front, Barley at the center position and Rosenberger and Glen-non in the back court. The Saints may present a somewhat changed line-up tonight starting in the game. Thurn may not be in the Saints' line-up, but his place will be taken care of either by Frank Koening or Pete Bruck.

In the preliminary contest the Holy Name Five of Wilbur will oppose the Junior Saints. The usual dancing and refreshments will follow the main event.

RELIANCE FIVE AT ST. MARY'S TONIGHT

Tonight at St. Mary's Hall the St. Mary's Juniors will oppose the Reliance Five in what will probably prove a snappy game of basketball. The Reliance Five will have a strong line-up, led by A. Stumpf. The Young Saints will have their regular players, Boyle, Gilday, Mooney, Joyce, Long and Clare.

ILLINOIS TEAM WILL MEET PENNSYLVANIA

Eastern Fans to Get Chance to Watch Zupke.

Pennsylvania versus Illinois! On October 31, 1923, Coach Robert Zupke will lead Illinois into Philadelphia and give the East its long-expressed wish of seeing his team in action, when the Orange and Blue meet the University of Pennsylvania. The Red and Blue will play a return game at Illinois Memorial stadium in 1925.

This announcement, answering the demand for a tussle of the Zupkes with a leading eastern team and the myriad questions of fans the country over as to which eleven would get the call, came from the office of George Huff, director of athletics.

After considering many offers which have been deluging Illinois from eastern teams, officials chose Penn, which at present is the only undefeated, non-titled team in that section, having rolled up 183 points to its opponents' 17. If the Red and Blue beats Penn State and Cornell the team can claim undisputed eastern title. If the Orange and Blue choose their season unwhipped the ill, scheduled for a city convenient for Illinois alumni in the West, will assume proportions of a battle for national honors.

The last time the Illinois invaded the East was in 1909 to defeat Howard Jones' Syracuse eleven by a top-heavy score. But the East never has seen a Zupke-coached team in action. Illinois was very willing to play the first game of the home-and-home series with the Quakers in their fair, because the 1925 list of home-gangs at Illinois is well fortified by battles with Michigan and Chicago.

Connie Mack Searching for More Ball Players

Despite the fact that Connie Mack has been the busiest manager in the majors since the close of the 1924 season, it is hinted that he is not yet through.

In securing "Lefty" Groves from Baltimore and Catcher Cochrane from Portland, the Athletics purchased the costliest rookie battery in the history of the game. Mack says he would like to pick up another hard-hitting outfielder who swats them from the right side of the plate. Rumor has it that he is willing to part with Frank Welch.

It is said Ty Cobb has made overtures for Welch, who rather disappointed Mack last season. The status of Galloway at short is also rather unsettled. Mack has let it be known that he will listen to bids for that player.

Levi Goes to Yankees

John Levi, called "Charging Buffalo," fullback of the Haskell Indian football eleven, has signed a baseball contract with the New York Yankees. He is a right-handed outfielder.

Fix Attractive Display of Gridiron Delicacies

Saturday, October 17, 1925, will produce the most attractive display of gridiron delicacies ever scheduled for a single autumn afternoon. On that day not less than five of the students went to the big league baseball. The two foremost contests include Notre Dames meeting with the Army at New York and Pennsylvania's game with Yale at New Haven. Other games scheduled are: Princeton-Navy at Annapolis, Syracuse-Indiana at Indianapolis, Colgate-Lafayette at Philadelphia, Penn State-Marquette at State College, Pa.; Detroit-Georgetown at Detroit and Bucknell's game with the Haskell Indians.

Five Big Leaguers From Illinois Team

University of Illinois has produced many famous athletes. In 1902 no less than five of its students went to the big league baseball. Carl Lundgren, Jake Stahl, "Fats" Faltzinger, Fred Berch and Higgins, who played for a short time with the St. Louis Cardinals. Then followed George Huff, the director of athletics, who was taken into the big show as manager of the Boston club. In 1909 and 1910 Illinois produced two more great players.

Term of Contempt

A Stoughton bottle is a dark green glass bottle formerly used for Dr. Stoughton's Bitters. The bottle was shaped like a leg and used in the Presidential campaign of 1900. The term from its association has come to signify a strong opinion in a particular direction.

Boston Bruins "Pro" Hockey Team

The photograph shows three stars of the Boston Bruins "pro" hockey team. Left to right—"Smoky" Harris, left wing; "Hek" Fowler, goal, and St. Herb Mitchell, left wing.

Coaches Vote Four Backs as Best Ever

Recently 20 coaches, many of whom have been at the game for a score of years either as player or coach, were asked to name an all-time all-America team.

There was a wide difference of opinion everywhere except in the backfield. Here the vote of the coaches was practically unanimous.

Eckersall at quarter, Grange and Thorpe at the halves and Eddie Mahan at fullback. The last three were top-heavy favorites, although "Bo" McMillan pressed Eckersall hard for the job at quarterback.

"Pop" Warner got the most votes for All-America coach.

Some Peculiar Cognomens Assumed by Pugilists

Johnny Dundee's name is Joseph Carrara. Johnny Wilson's is John Pancia. Paul Doyle is christened Paul Filippio. Andy Chaney is in the birth records as Andrew Kwasnik. Nobody would ever connect Oscar Tobler with Willie Jackson, nor could Vincenzo Agati become reconciled with Jimmy O'Gaty.

Pancho Villa's success started an exodus of Filipinos to this country. The names of some that sound like centers of population are listed above, and Elmore Flores is another. Mike Ballerino came from the islands in the Pacific ocean, too. Luis Firpo, Juan Carlos Casla and Luis Vincental came up from South America.

France made boxing history by sending forth Georges Carpentier, Eugene Criqui, Marcel Moreau, Charley Le-doux and the strangest of all, Battling Siki. All are "busted" idols now, but they, each in turn, added to the gay whirl of the game that was recognized only with the Irish.

Men of Celtic origin have not been pushed completely out of the milling hordes for prestige won by fists and the elusive dollar, however. One is the champion of all champions, the marvel of his time, Jack Dempsey. Mickey Walker, Mike McTigue and Gene Tunney are others. But they are alone. Their challengers are Greeks, Italians, Germans and one for Tunney is a Mexican.

Champions Get Call on Western Pitching Star

For Hack Miller, utility infielder, and Dad Hankins, a pitcher, the Washington baseball club, as the result of a deal announced by President Griffith, will obtain an option on a young left-handed pitcher named McNamara from the Wichita club of the Western league.

Under the agreement, if the world champions retain McNamara after April 15, when the option expires, the Wichita club must be paid $15,000 and given another pitcher.

Champion in Action

Beatrice Loughran, national fancy skating champion and second in the Olympic events at Chamonix, snapped in action at the Lake Placid club in the Adirondacks of New York.

Guy Morton With Memphis

Guy Morton, former Cleveland American league pitcher, has been purchased by the Memphis club of the Southern league, from Indianapolis. Morton had been with the Cleveland club for two years, prior to being released to Kansas City early last season. He remained with Kansas City until the fall end of the American association season when Indianapolis, being in the thick of the pennant fight purchased him.

Origin of French Walk

The walk is of French origin, but was adopted and modified in Germany so that it is usually identified with that country. It became popular in the continental early in the Nineteenth century, and was brought into the United States in 1851.

Sporting Squibs

"Babe" Ruth has been in the major leagues ten years.

The Tialteann games will be held in Dublin again in 1928.

Harvard's baseball schedule consists of 25 games, April 11 to June 20.

The New York Canoe club, the first in the United States, was organized in 1870.

The Philadelphia Skating club, the first in the United States, was founded just 73 years ago.

In four years the University of Chicago football team has lost only two games out of 18 played.

Nick Allen, manager of the St. Paul American association team in 1924, has signed a contract for this year.

Princeton and Yale have met 48 times in gridiron contests. It is the oldest football rivalry in America.

Aldon college of Michigan will shortly begin construction of a $175,000 gymnasium, to be ready by next September.

Few players in the majors use the head-first slide because of its great danger. Frisch, of the Giants, is an exception.

Wade Killefer, manager of the Seattle club has signed a new second baseman. He is Bert Wallis, a Seattle high school boy.

George Makin, third baseman, has been purchased from the Syracuse club of the International league by the St. Louis Cardinals.

The annual West Point Cadets vs. Notre Dame football match is announced for the Yankees' stadium, New York city, October 17, 1925.

Playing a round of golf recently, Babe Ruth was accredited with a drive of 352 yards long, the longest on record at the Rancho club of Los Angeles.

George Sutton, the marvelous "hand-less" billiard player, is showing his proficiency by playing the three-cushion game with marked success.

"Choppy" Rhodes is the star of this year's Nebraska team. He's a fast runner, hard-to-tackle halfback. He also dabbles in basket ball and track.

Barney Burch, owner of the Omaha Western league club, has regained possession of Outfielder Frank Osborne, buying him outright from the Seattle club.

John Roser, outfielder of the Worcester Eastern league, who hit .300 last season, including 33 home runs, has been sold to the Baltimore Internationals.

John F. (Chick) Meehan, who recently resigned as coach of the Syracuse university eleven, has been signed to coach the New York university football team.

Portland, Ore., charges $20 for season tickets to play on the municipal golf courses. The city has three courses and the purchaser must name the course he intends to play over.

Despite the fact that the New York Yankees are looking right and left for a shortstop, Everett Scott will probably continue his consecutive game record when the season opens.

H. A. Sanders, who played ball with the Mexican club in the West Texas league last season, and C. W. Johnson, umpire from Denver, have been signed to pitch for the Los Angeles club this year.

University of Oklahoma's memorial stadium is to cost $1,000,000 and include a double-decked steel grandstand to seat 62,000. A new gymnasium is also talked of and legislative assistance will be sought.

Manager John McGraw of the New York Giants will send his pitchers and catchers to Saratoga, N. Y., on February 20, ten days before the main squad. This has been McGraw's program for the past two years.

Louis Little, new athletic director at Georgetown university, is thirty years of age and during his 15 seasons of gridiron play as a scholastic, collegiate and professional star he participated in 172 games without injury.

The walk is of French origin, but was adopted and modified in Germany so that it is usually identified with that country. It became popular in the continental early in the Nineteenth century, and was brought into the United States in 1851.

Baseball Probe Will Fall Flat

Unless O'Connell Testifies Before District Attorney—Dolan's Testimony Yesterday Not Known at Present.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Jan. 30.—If, as the young man himself has been at some pains to imply, Jimmy O'Connell will not appear in New York for the official investigation of the baseball scandal, the local district attorney's probe will die a painful death of malnutrition. There can be little done without O'Connell, the only man mentioned in the expose from whom a confession was obtained.

Local officials made no attempt to conceal this state of affairs today as they prepared to make the best of Jimmy's sudden refusal to do business with them. Barring extradition proceedings, the district attorney's office has no alternative beyond proceeding with the hearing of minor witnesses from whom there is no hope of getting to the bottom of the affair.

Without actually saying as much, local officials have indicated that they will not attempt to extradite O'Connell. He would have to be indicted by a grand jury in the first place, and in the second, they have no assurance that an attempt at extradition would be successful.

They believe that the governor of California would not consent to O'Connell's extradition.

Dolan has steadily maintained his innocence since they day Judge Landis adjudged him guilty solely on the indefinite charges of his answers before the baseball commission. It is believed that he continued to deny all knowledge of the plot when questioned by Assistant District Attorney Brothers yesterday, although just what transpired behind those closed doors will not be known until some later date.

In a general idea, however, that whatever happened is of slight consequence as long as O'Connell turns up missing. Without him the probe falls as flat as a butter cut.

Old aches
